GNU/Linux Videokanäle – Was gibt es da draußen?

Als Geeks wissen wir eigentlich ja schon alles.

Aber da draußen gibt es tatsächlich Leute, die meinen, mehr zu wissen...

Stimmt das? Geht das überhaupt?

Ich musste über die Jahre feststellen: Ja, leider...

GNU/Linux Videokanäle – Was gibt es da draußen?

Die folgende Liste ist natürlich alles andere als vollständig.

Videokanäle kommen und gehen.

Aber als Startpunkt bieten sich die aufgeführten Kanäle als hervorragende Informationsquellen, sowohl für reine Infos als auch für detaillierte Tutorials.

GNU/Linux Videokanäle – LinuxGuides

<https://www.youtube.com/@LinuxGuides/videos>

Wöchentliche Videos rund um Linux- und Open Source.
Die Videos sind sowohl für Anfänger, als auch teilweise für Fortgeschrittene gedacht.

GNU/Linux Videokanäle – fosstopia

<https://www.youtube.com/@fosstopia/videos>

Ich mache Videos über FOSS (Free & Open Source Software) und Linux. Alles fing im Jahr 2020 mit dem Namen MichlFranken an. Die Umbenennung in fosstopia fand im Juni 2024 statt. Ab 2025 wird fosstopia als nicht-kommerzielles Privatprojekt ohne Gewinnabsicht betrieben. Neue Videos kommen genau dann, wenn sie fertig sind. ;-)
Das Tempo der Veröffentlichungen wurde aus Zeitgründen jedoch reduziert. Regelmäßige News und Artikel gibts im Blog:

<https://www.youtube.com/@NickJanetakis/videos>

Hi, I'm Nick and I've been a self taught software developer for about 20 years. Over the years I've worked as a consultant doing contract work for various clients while also hacking away on my own projects because it's what I love to do.

I'm also a Docker Captain, which means that Docker personally reached out to me to join their team as a trusted content provider and community leader.
